[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
WASHINGTON, July 1.—The War Department has received the following from Gen. Shafter, dated at Siboney:
"Had a very heavy engagement to-day, which lasted from 8 a.m. until sun-down. We have carried their outer works, and are now in possession of them. There is now about three-quarters of a mile of open between my lines and the city. By morning troops will be entrenched and considerable augmentation of forces will be there. Gen. Lawton's division and Gen. Bates's brigade, which have been engaged all day in carrying El Caney, which was accomplished at 4 p.m., will be in line and in front of Santiago during the night. I regret to say that our casualties will be above four hundred. Of these, not many killed."
[Signed] "SHAFTER."

THE BATTLE.
A Stubborn Conflict Before the Enemy Broke.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
JURAGUA (Cuba), July 1, 8 p.m.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Tonight the American troops hold the outer trenches of Santiago. Before another sun sets the Stars and Stripes will wave over the city. The invaders attacked the enemy in force this morning, and before the day closed had driven the Spaniards into the city. Fighting lasted from 8 o'clock in the morning till dark. The American loss is about 400 killed and wounded. The loss of the enemy must have been very heavy. The Spaniards fought with a stubborn determination, but step by step they were driven back from their position, and as night fell, the American sentinels were at the gates of the city. The battle will be resumed in the morning, and no one doubts the result will be Gen. Shafter is pleased with the progress made.

The attack on Santiago was made in three divisions. Gen. Wheeler and Gen. Lawton commenced the assault on Caney, located to the northeast of Santiago, while the second division, commanded by Gen. Kent, attacked Aguadores. At the same time, Gen. Canby with a force of Cubans, was advancing on Caney from the southeast, forming a junction with the American division approaching from the east.

At a signal to advance, the troops dashed forward in a concerted movement from the north, east and south. The fighting was of the fiercest description. Nothing daunted by the withering fire from the Spanish lines, the boys in blue kept hammering away with the confidence they must eventually sweep the enemy from their position.

The battle of Santiago was begun by two batteries of light artillery, which opened fire on Caney. The Spaniards made a desperate effort to hold their ground. They fought with the greatest stubbornness, and poured a deadly fire into the ever advancing ranks of the Americans and Cubans. But step by step Linares's soldiers were forced to retreat.

For only a short time after the American columns started forward did the Spaniards hold their position; then they began a movement toward the rear that did not cease until they had taken refuge in the village. Gen. Shafter had taken accurate measure of the strength of the enemy during the first hour of battle, and was confident that his forces could drive the Spaniards into Santiago at pleasure.

So eager were the Americans to get at the enemy, it was with difficulty the commanding officers of different companies restrained the men, until the time arrived for beginning the final engagement. The boys in blue were filled with enthusiasm, and their spirits soon spread to their Cuban allies. All shared the opinion of Gen.

12:30 o'clock this morning when a preliminary report of the day's operations was received by Adjt.-Gen. Corbin from Gen. Shafter. The President and war officials are immensely pleased with the information conveyed in Shafter's message. While they learned with sincere regret that so many of the American troops had fallen in the fight, the ground gained by the day's conflict is regarded as a great victory.

Adjt.-Gen. Corbin put the situation strongly and picturesquely this morning, while speaking briefly of the aggressiveness and tenacity of Gen. Shafter.

"The old bulldog," said he, referring thus half affectionately to the distinguished commander of the Fifth Corps, "is lying right there with his teeth in their neck, only waiting the coming of daylight to finish the work he has so magnificently begun. The engagement yesterday was very heavy for a preliminary fight, but it scores a decided victory for us."

"I regret to know that Shafter has sustained so heavy a loss, but we may hope that there are not, as he says, many killed. It is, however, pretty certain to be true that the loss of an army in an engagement like that of yesterday, where the battle line extended over several miles, will be much heavier than is indicated by the first reports. It is manifestly impossible, in cases where the battle has raged all day and until dark, to ascertain with definiteness the loss sustained."

During the early night, there was much speculation concerning the reasons for the delay in receiving news from the battle. Capt. Smith, who is acting as chief signal officer during the temporary absence of Gen. Greely, feared that the cable communication with Cuba might have been interrupted and none of the other officials would offer a suggestion as to the reason for delay.

Early in the evening Secretary Alger went to the White House, and remained with the President until the dispatch from Gen. Shafter had been received.

During the evening many prominent officials and members of Congress were at the White House, but only a few of them remained longer to ascertain whether any news had been received from Cuba.

CABINET HEARS THE NEWS.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
WASHINGTON, July 1.—The Cabinet was in session for almost two hours today, but took no important action. The session was mainly occupied with a discussion of the news from Santiago. Gen. Shafter's dispatch was read aloud before the members of the Cabinet.

THE WOUNDED LAUGH.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
SIBONEY, July 1, 3:30 p.m. (Via Playa del Este, Guantanamo Bay.) At 1 o'clock this afternoon, after five hours of fiercest fighting, the Spaniards began to leave their entrenchments and retreat into the city. Many Americans were wounded and are being brought in. One man had both arms shot off, and was wounded in one hip, but was laughing.

THE ASSAULT.
[A. P. DAY REPORT. COPYRIGHT, 1898.]
PLAYA DEL ESTE, July 1, 11:20 a.m.—A general assault on the city of Santiago de Cuba by the land and sea forces of the United States began at 7 o'clock this morning. Gen. Lawton advanced and took possession of Cabona, suburb of Santiago.

Moro Castle and the other forts at the entrance of the harbor were bombarded by our fleet. The Vesuvius used her dynamite guns with good effect.

The Spanish fleet in the harbor fired on the American troops, who were very close to the city. Hard fighting all along the American line was in progress at 11 o'clock. Nine wounded Cubans have been brought in.

A SIGNIFICANT MESSAGE.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
WASHINGTON, July 1.—In reply to a message asking Gen. Shafter how many troops could be sent back to Tampa in order that reinforcements might be sent him, Adjt.-Gen. Corbin late tonight received the following reply: "Col. Humphreys has been ordered to return as many transports as possible at once."

SUSPENSE RELIEVED.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
WASHINGTON, July 2. The suspense which followed the receipt of Gen. Shafter's dispatch early yesterday morning announcing that a battle had begun near Santiago was relieved at

The Associated Press dispatches were also read verbatim to the Cabinet. There was a general feeling of gratification shown at the cooperation rendered by Admiral Sampson's fleet. Careful plans to this end were made in a general way some time ago, though eluding to Sampson the widest discretion.

Besides the Santiago fight, the Cabinet devoted some time to questions connected with the operation of the War Revenue Bill. After the Cabinet meeting Secretary Long said that the fleet under Sampson was cooperating to the fullest extent with the land forces, and that he expected great results. He suggested that there were two conditions certain in the Santiago situation.

"One is," he said, "we will surely win, and the other that it will come about after hard fighting, but fighting will tell. Of this we are certain."

DID THEIR WORK,
And Then the Army Slept on Its Arms.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK, July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A special to the World from the front, two miles from Santiago, at 5 p.m. today, gives information that the Spanish outpost, the strongest in the enemy's lines, captured by Lawton's right wing, was located on San Juan hill. The general advance upon all the outposts began at 3 p.m., and the movement was successful all along the line. El Caney is now in our hands.

The losses, it is stated, are heavy on both sides, but no indication of the number killed is given. This dispatch was forwarded from the field by a special courier on a fleet horse to Siboney, and transmitted thence to Playa del Este.

A special to the Journal says our army tonight is sleeping on its arms. Lawton has thrown half his brigade across the northern approach to Santiago. Wheeler and Kent are understood to be in front of the fortifications which guard the land approach to Moro on the east, and stretch north on the east of the harbor to the city limits.

Kent, it is understood, accomplished the specific purpose he was sent out to perform. This was to drive 4000 Spaniards west of the mouth of the San Juan River toward the city. The attack will be renewed at daybreak, and Santiago and the strong fortifications to the south are expected to be in American possession by Saturday evening. The capture or destruction of Cervera's squadron will follow.

A MADRID REPORT.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK, July 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A Madrid dispatch on the Manzanillo bombardment says: "One of the American warships was towed away. One Spaniard was killed."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK, July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A Washington special says the Navigation Bureau this evening received a cipher cablegram from Sampson, reporting that most of his heaviest ships began early a bombardment of Moro Castle. A great many shells were thrown into this fortification, and Sampson describes the castle at the conclusion of the bombardment as a total ruin. The fortifications guarding the mouth of Santiago Harbor were razed and ruined.

Information reached Washington at midnight that the American troops broke the Spanish center. Definite information that the Americans in one sortie lost four killed and sixteen wounded has been received. The seventy-first New York is reported to have suffered severely.

AIM OF THE BATTLE.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK, July 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Additional advice from the front says the purpose of the battle was to occupy a broad plateau which is the key to Santiago. Three miles east of the position Lawton occupied was a ridge of hills, and three miles west of it another ridge. On the northern side of the valley between these ridges was a broad plateau. The guns on this plateau can hurl a storm of lead into Santiago, and either drive out the Spanish or be a mighty help to our troops if they take the city by assault.

The battle, of course, was but a part of the opening of the grand scheme of the campaign to capture the Spanish army, capture or destroy the Spanish fleet and establish a base of operations in Cuba for future action. Even if the Spanish army should escape by some miracle, the occupation of Santiago, viewed with an eye to the future conduct of the war, will be a glorious victory.

ALMOST ANNIHILATED.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK, July 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Herald's special from Shafter's headquarters says that one company of our troops was almost annihilated in today's battle. Richard Harding Davis wires that the firing today was begun by Capt. Capron's battery at intervals of a minute. A mist hung so heavily over the valley that it was impossible to make out the effect of the shots. The shells from this battery were directed upon a Spanish blockhouse, and its roof and walls could be seen falling. Following Capron's action Lawton's infantry went in and Grimes's battery followed. Four members of the Twenty-first Regiment of regulars were killed between Sevilla and Aguadores, while sixteen other Americans of the same regiment were wounded. Two companies of Roosevelt's Rough Riders, and the Third, Sixth and Twenty-first Infantry successfully attacked the northeast side of the defenses near Santiago this afternoon. They were clear in front of the general advance fighting like demons. It was in this engagement that the men of the Twenty-first lost their lives.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—Two contracts, involving the payments of the largest individual fees for legal services ever paid in California have been filed for record in this city. The contracts in question are between Theresa Oelrichs and Virginia Fair, daughters of the late James G. Fair, and the legal firms of Floyd & Wood and Garber, Bishop & Wheeler.

The indentures call for the payment to each of the firms of 5 per cent. of the portions of war-revenue stamps, and of James G. Fair. This aggregates about $350,000, to be paid each firm, provided the trust will be declared invalid. In the event a contrary action results, 5 per cent. of the income of the property shall be paid to the attorneys for five years after the decree of distribution.

The trust will have been declared valid, the first proviso of the contracts become operative. The percentage of the income, however, will be paid. What this sum amounts to is unknown, but it is considerable.

RUSH FOR STAMPS.

All Orders at San Francisco Could not Be Filled.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—The internal revenue office was besieged today by purchasers of war-revenue stamps, and from the time the office opened up there has not been a minute's lull in the rush. Owing to the small supply of the new stamps forwarded from Washington the demand for them cannot be met, and all orders were not filled today.

The stock of new stamps gave out early in the morning, and by instructions from Washington 1 and 2-cent postage stamps were sold for revenue purposes after they had been stamped with the letter "F." The collector received word today from Washington that 10,000,000 stamps of all denominations were now en route to this city, and in a few days the printing bureau would be able to meet all demands.

TWO DEATHS FROM HEAT.

Morphine Fiend and a Maricopa Indian Succumb.

[BY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.), July 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In the past forty-eight hours two persons have died from the effects of hot weather. Pearl St. Clair, a morphine fiend, was found lying beside an irrigation ditch yesterday, stone dead. Today a Maricopa Indian, Jim George, was found by the roadside three miles southwest of town.

Carried Revolvers Into Court.

OAKLAND, July 1.—The case of Joel J. Hurt, the Wyoming cattleman, who demands the custody of his three little girls, now held by Mrs. Alvin Schaefer, formerly Mrs. Hurt, came up in Judge Ogden's court today.

Both Hurt and Schaefer were present and each carried a revolver. They were dismissed by Sheriff White. The mother was granted until next Wednesday to procure evidence from the court records of Wyoming and Colorado to offset Hurt's charges against her.

Seriously Hurt by a Train.

STOCKTON, July 1.—A man named Smith was found lying beside the Southern Pacific track this morning early, with his head under a wheel.

He was conscious but unable to move, and stated that he had been struck by a train of cars while walking on the track last evening, about 5 o'clock. He had been lying there all night. It is thought he will recover, notwithstanding his forehead is crushed in. He was taken to the County Hospital.

Isaakson Apprehended.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—Claus Isaakson, who recently absconded with over $7000 belonging to the Pacific Rolling Mills Company, has been located by the detectives at St. Paul.

He has been indicted by the grand jury, and today Gov. Budd will be asked to issue extradition papers for his return to this city. He is said to have left here disguised as a tramp, and to have visited Seattle and Vancouver before going to St. Paul.

Railroad Officials Shaken Up.

REDDING, July 1.—A special train carrying a number of officials of the Union Pacific Railroad was wrecked this evening between Smithson and Delta, about thirty-five miles north of Redding. Although receiving a severe shaking-up, none of the officials were injured. The engineer and fireman were hurt, but not seriously.

The engine jumped the track in a cut, but the coaches held to the rails. Traffic was delayed about four hours.

Much Lumber Seen Adrift.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—The officers of the Umatilla, which arrived in port today, report having sighted a large quantity of lumber on the voyage down the coast, and it is believed that the raft containing 5,000,000 feet of lumber which left Puget Sound last week in tow of tug for San Francisco had broken loose. Nothing was seen of the two tugs which had the raft in charge.

Damage by the Norther.

SACRAMENTO, July 1.—The high north wind which had been sweeping over this section for two days and nights abated today.

It is reported that serious damage was done to the fruit crops, about 25 per cent. of the fruit having been beaten from the trees. Wheat that had not been cut has also suffered, the wind thrashing out much of the grain.

Populist Delegates.

SANTA ROSA, July 1.—At the Populist convention, held here this afternoon, the following delegates were elected to the State convention, Sacramento, July 12: J. W. Warboys, W. Keegan, C. E. Hildreth, Santa Rosa; Fred Heschler, Petaluma; W.

O. Griggs, Alexander Valley; G. W. Hoyle, Cloverdale; Thomas Johnson, Glen Ellen.

Stockton Barber Arrested.

STOCKTON, July 1.—Billy Barber, a Stockton barber, was arrested this afternoon by Deputy Sheriff Black of San Joaquin county for the murder of John C. Davis at Bakersfield last October. Barber had made admissions to a woman tending to show that he committed the crime.

CHICAGO'S POPULATION.

The Windy City Contains Nearly Two Million Souls.

[BY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, July 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Chicago's population by her official school census, the figures of which are just out, is 1,851,585. The school census is not a complete one of the city, but so near to that that the figures are not believed to be over 2,000,000. The census shows an increase of population over that of 1896 of 250,000; over that of 1894 of 400,000, and of that of 1890, taken by the government, of over 800,000.

The city directory's estimate of the population made last week is 1,850,000, or 30,000 more than the school census shows. The school census shows 945,000 males and 905,000 females in the city. The largest ward in the city, the Thirtieth, has a population of 110,000.

The demands of the union for more money and less hours recently combatted by the Publishers—The Understanding.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.] CHICAGO, July 1.—The following bulletin was posted at every newspaper office this evening at 10 o'clock:

"Stereotypers' Union notified the newspaper publishers of Chicago that unless their demands for an increase of wages from $3.25 to $4 per day, a reduction of the working day from 8 to 7 hours, with payment at the rate of 75 cents per hour for all overtime work, and other concessions, were at once acceded to, they would refuse to work. In consequence of this action, the newspapers in common with all other Chicago papers, will not appear Saturday."

This action of the newspapers was in pursuance of an understanding recently entered into, including, among other provisions, the following agreement: "In the event of a strike in any of the departments of one or more of the Chicago daily newspaper offices, the mechanical resources of all our other papers shall be pooled to the extent and with the purpose that no newspaper shall be published until all the newspapers can promptly published on the same day."

The stereotypers have been averaging from $19.20 to $22 per week on six-day working papers, and from $24 to $27 on the seven-day morning papers. It is anticipated that the influx of stereotypers from all parts of the country will be so immediate and so great that the interruption of publication will continue for but a few days.

NO NEWS TODAY.

[BY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, July 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] For the first time since Chicago boasted a daily newspaper, nearly sixty years ago, the Chicagoans will have no news this morning. The city is keenly agog over the news in the Friday evening papers of the battle at Santiago, and the disappointment Saturday morning will be keen. All the printers, pressmen, and editorial staffs were relieved at 11 o'clock tonight, and press reports were cut off. The publishers will bring stereotypers from outside cities and papers will issue Sunday.

The New York Journal and Advertiser says the stage has lost Miss Rhea forever. The actress, who has been in the city for a long time, has just been received. She sailed for Paris about six weeks ago, and the ocean voyage developed a malady of which she has been a victim for years. Three weeks ago she was removed from the apartments of a friend in the Grand Hotel, Paris, to her chateau at Montmorency, France. An eminent physician was summoned to her bedside, and declared that her complaint was incurable. Rhea was to have starred in conjunction with Louis James and Frederick Ward for three years, beginning next September. The managers have engaged Katharine Kidder of "Sons of the Sea" fame to fill the gap.

REMARKABLE PRISONER.

JAMAICA NEGRO CHARGED WITH THE CRIME OF BURGLARY.

He Astonishes the Court With His Knowledge of Legal Procedure and Short-hand Reporting. Speaks Thirteen Languages—Has a Bad Record in Los Angeles.

The preliminary examination of L. C. Lennan on the charge of burglary yesterday was far more interesting than the general run of such cases. The defendant is a Jamaica negro of unusual intelligence. He is charged with the burglary of the room of James Robinson, brother of Fawcett Robinson, designer for the fiesta floats, at the residence of Mr. Benke, No. 133 West Eighteenth street. A valise and a hand-bag containing some very valuable papers, were taken, also a coat and vest belonging to Mr. Robinson.

A few days after the theft of the articles named, Mr. Robinson inserted an advertisement in The Times offering $500 reward for the return of the plunder. Before the advertisement appeared, Lennan delivered some of the stolen papers to Bernard Mills, an attorney who had been doing some legal work for him. Lennan said he found the papers at Westlake Park. When the advertisement appeared, Mills took the papers, the Times office and demanded the reward. The Times had been requested to refuse payment until the police were communicated with. Mills, when questioned by the detectives, referred them to Lennan.

The negro, when questioned, told how he found the papers. Although it was suspected from the great length of the rest of the plunder. It was noticed that only recorded papers, deeds, mortgages, etc., were among those first found. A lot of valuable certificates, mining certificates, etc., were still missing. Lennan would not say where the papers, but not the most valuable ones. He also recovered the coat and vest and the valises, which he said he found in the ravines near Westlake Park. The unrecorded papers he failed to turn up.

Finally, after apparently assisting the detectives for some time, he was on June 25 cast into jail, charged with being the burglar himself. At his preliminary examination yesterday, before Justice Owens, the prisoner surprised Judge, counsel and detectives with his varied accomplishments. He took down all the testimony by shorthand and conducted his own defense in the most skillful manner. He cross-examined the witnesses for the prosecution, and made a legal acumen. Justice Owens after ward remarked that few lawyers practicing in his court had ever conducted their own case so well as this defendant.

The examination lasted the greater part of the day, and at its conclusion the court took a recess. Lennan is not a full-blooded negro. He says his grandfather was an Englishman, and that he was educated for the diplomatic service in London. He professes to speak thirteen languages—proficiently and is master of several systems of shorthand. He claims to be a system of his own invention. He is 37 years old, and served several years in the British navy on the Camperdown and other first-class warships prior to coming to Los Angeles.

Lennan's record since coming to California is against him. He was convicted of rape on his stepdaughter in this city in 1886, and was sentenced to twelve years in State's prison. His credits for good conduct reduced his term several years, and since regaining his liberty he has made a trip to Cuba, and on returning to Los Angeles six months ago married the wife of a friend. Lennan admits that he has two wives living, but asserts that he undivorced that his first wife got a divorce before he married the second.

A Soldier's Escape.

From the Democrat-Messenger, Mt. Sterling, Ill.

When Richmond had fallen and the great commanders had met beneath the historic apple tree at Appomattox, the 83d Pennsylvania Volunteers, prematurely aged, clad in tatters and rags, broken in body but of dauntless spirit, swung into line for the last "grand review" and then quietly marched away to begin life's fray anew. Rebel shot and shell, the dread miasma of the southern swamp, sleepless nights and wearisome days had depleted their ranks until only a handful remained. Among the broken ranks of the 83d came back to the old home in Mt. Sterling, Ill.; that he had left at the call to arms four years previous. He went away in the first flush of vigorous manhood; he came back a ghost of the self that answered to President Lincoln's call for "80,000 more."

With his return to the old homestead there came to him the knowledge that war with him was only begun; that he must fight the battle with disease to the end of his days; that the glare of a southern sun and the galling fire of a southern soldiery were as nothing compared to the onslaught of an enemy that fought under cover and disregarded all the rules of civilized warfare. Scatting rheumatism fastened its fangs upon him, increasing rather than diminishing. He spent a small fortune for doctor's medicine, praying for even temporary relief, but it did not come.

Today he is an alert, active man of fifty-five years. His rheumatic pains have disappeared, and while there are traces of his years of suffering in his face and body, the soldierly bearing and springy step of a healthy young man.

To the Democrat-Messenger reporter he talked freely about his case. Mr. Robinson is a man of much more than average education and intelligence. Where he is known in Brown County his word is as acceptable as the word of the average man, and there is no question but that in his case an almost miraculous cure

CAPT. MAHAN, U.S.N., the highest authority in the world on naval strategy, says: "It isn't so much the gun itself or the weight of the projectile as the man behind it that tells the story. Quite right, Captain, since a single well-aimed shell will sink a $3,000,000 war ship. You might have added, and probably did, mentally: "Thank God, we've got the gunners!"

Interesting chaps, these cool-brained, keen-eyed gunners! We'd all like to see them face to face; but this is their "busy day." When the war is over—Yes—if they come back.

Just now the camera helps us by picturing them behind their big guns—and not only our gunners but the enemy's—and not only sailors but soldiers; not only camp but quarter-deck, with marching and fighting from day to day. All this each week during the war, in The Times' Superb Series of War Pictures, entitled

SHE WANTS HER SON.
A San Francisco Woman in Search of a Runaway Boy.

Mrs. John Easdale of No. 325 Mississippi street, San Francisco, arrived in this city yesterday in quest of her son, James Easdale, aged 18, who ran away from home three weeks ago to enlist in the army. The young man had been apprenticed as a pattern-maker at Dow's pump works, at the Proterre.
He had come to him at his last pay day. He drew this money and went to Sacramento, where he tried to enlist as a soldier. But he was too light and the recruiting officer would not take him. Then the young man came to Los Angeles and tried to get into one of the various military organizations here, but was rejected by all on account of his physical shortcomings. During his stay here, the young man boarded at the Avondale House on Crocker street.
While there he wrote a letter to his mother telling her where he was and what he was trying to do. He also said he was sorry he had left home.
On the receipt of this letter the mother immediately started for Los Angeles to find her boy and take him home. Upon her arrival here yesterday afternoon she went at once to the Avondale House, only to learn that her son had left there last Monday, saying that he had found work through an employment agency, at picking apricots.
The people at the Avondale House did not know where he had gone to work.
The old lady was heart-broken at not being able to find her son. During the afternoon she called at the Police Station and poured her tale of woe into the sympathetic ear of Capt. Roberts, who promised to do all in his power to find the runaway boy.

RUN OVER AND KILLED.

BULKY OIL WAGON CRUSHES UN-KNOWN WOMAN TO DEATH.

Persons Say They Saw the Victim Staggering Drunk Shortly Before the Accident—Jacob Mc-Intyre, the Driver, Released on His Own Recognizance.

An elderly woman, whose identity is at yet undiscovered, was run over and killed by an oil wagon driven by Jacob McIntyre, at First and Vine streets, about 5 o'clock last evening. The body, badly mangled, is now at Orr & Hines's undertaking rooms on South Broadway, where Coroner Campbell will hold an inquest some time today.

The fatal accident is a very peculiar one, and would scarcely be accountable were it not that dozens of persons say they saw the dead woman staggering drunk shortly before the mishap befell her. She died clutching a bottle of wine.

J. W. Green, a barber at No. 515½
East First street, says the unknown passed his shop several times during the course of yesterday afternoon, and that on two occasions he lifted her to her feet from the pavement, where she had fallen, apparently from intoxication. The last time he assisted her to gain her equilibrium, she was walking in the direction of Vine street. Curiously prompted him to leave his shop a few minutes later, he saw what approaching oil wagon, weighing about three tons and drawn by four large horses. McIntyre, the driver of the vehicle, says he did not notice her, either, for he was dividing his attention between the front horses, and passing street cars, one of which, going west, had just halted at Vine street. Suddenly he heard a fronted shriek, he says, that seemed to come from under him, the horses starting and pulling with noticeable difficulty. Looking to the ground, he found the source of the shriek and the substance which says

THE WAR SITUATION.

Below are summarized the more important developments of yesterday in the war situation:

The American forces opened the attack on Santiago yesterday. There was a heavy engagement, lasting from 3 a. m. until sundown. The outer works of the enemy were carried, and our forces are now in possession of them, being within three-quarters of a mile of the city. The troops will entrench their position, receive reinforcements. The battle will probably be resumed early this morning. The American losses are between four and five hundred killed or wounded.

Sampson's fleet engages the forts at the entrance to Santiago Bay. The Vesuvius does some effective work.

Report that Camara's squadron has passed through the Suez Canal discredited. Another report says two vessels started.

Successful use of war balloons in the attack on Santiago.

Attempt to take the city will be resumed this morning.

A QUESTION OF PHYSIQUE.

The rejection of a large percentage of those who have volunteered their services, from the three Pacific States, for the defense of our country's flag in the Philippine Islands is the natural subject for inquiry as to the physical status of our far-western people. On every side it is conceded that the rejections have been made through physical causes that would have little or no bearing upon the fighting qualities of the men. A man must have good eyesight to go into the army or he cannot shoot accurately, and hence the large percentage of rejections among some of our volunteer companies.

Of course, with their duty plainly blocked out for them in the medical instructions of the War Department, the examining physicians of the new organizations had nothing to do but reject defective applicants for enlistment. The large percentage of rejections, however, is unquestionably due in chief part to the more rigid requirements of the present time, as compared to those of the civil war. The number of volunteers is so large in comparison to the number required for actual service, that it is practicable to accept only those who are physically perfect.

With reference to rejections from causes akin to structural defects in the human frame, it is to be remembered that most of the earlier enlistments in our wars came from the larger cities and serve to draw off their surplus population for volunteer service. The love of adventure so natural to youth, coupled with the enforced idleness which is the outgrowth of a lack of manufactures in many of our towns, contributes to the volunteering of a class of young men whose frames have not had adequate development by manual labor.

This was particularly noticeable during the civil war. The volunteer forces were at first drawn largely from the idlers of the larger cities; and it was not until the third year of the war that the factories of the Northwest began to pour forth a class of men far superior in physical strength and ability to cope with hardship to those who had enlisted when the guns of Beauregard were first leveled at the battlements of Fort Sumter. The men who marched unchallenged under the lead of the grim but gallant Sherman, "from Atlanta to the sea," were a more rugged and powerful type of men than those who followed McDowell into the panic and commotion that ended the battle of Bull Run.

The men from the great quartz mines of the Sierra Nevada and the coal fields of Puget Sound have not yet been called into the field. Neither have the stalwart loggers and millhands of the Humboldt, Coos, Umpqua, Chehalis and the great northern inland-sea region, where Old Seattle and his braves went forth to battle in a thousand canoes. They are a stouter and more enduring type of men than the earlier enlistments, but it is to be hoped that we shall not need them. They will readily be forthcoming, however, should their country summon.

FOUR TIMES OVER.

The new war bonds are going "like hot cakes." The amount of money asked for in the call, $200,000,000, has been subscribed nearly four times over. This does not mean, however, that there is no further chance for small investors to secure bonds. The law wisely provides that the bids for the smaller amounts shall be accepted first. The object of this provision is to make the loan a popular one in the truest sense of the word. Up to the present time the subscriptions offered aggregate $790,000,000. Of this amount there have been received and accepted, in sums of $500 or less, $40,000,000. The subscriptions in sums of over $500 aggregate $250,000,000. These are subject to future allotment, dependent upon the amount received in smaller subscriptions. It is not improbable that the entire loan of $200,000,000 will be taken in sums of $500 or less.

Syndicate propositions have been submitted, offering to take the whole or any amount of the authorized loan, and even offering a premium in some cases. These offers have not been considered, as it is evident that the bonds will all be taken by individual investors, and it is desirable from every point of view to have them as widely distributed among the people as possible. It is believed that from now on the smaller subscriptions will come in more rapidly than heretofore, as the six months' interest period of the savings bonds ends July 1, so that withdrawals can be made without loss of interest to depositors.

Nothing could better illustrate the boundless resources and patriotism of the American people than the rapidity with which this popular loan has been taken up. It is now practically certain that the entire amount of the bond issue will be taken by people of moderate means. If more money should be needed for the conduct of the war, the people will stand ready to advance it to the government to almost any extent desired.

All this is in marked contrast to the bankrupt condition of our antagonist, Spain. It is an object-lesson to the world, which shows that the American people are very much in earnest in this war, are ready to furnish all the money needed in its conduct, and are determined that it shall be carried to a speedy and successful conclusion.

There is food for reflection in the remark made to Chauncey Depew by an Englishman. Mr. Depew had been protesting that the United States is fighting for sentimental reasons, whereupon the Britisher said: "Yes, that is always the way we get in, and then stay. Christianity and civilization demand it, you know, and we give the beggars liberty, law, order and justice, which they never had before. It is in your blood. You have come by it honestly. You have aroused the appetite of earth-hunger, and you cannot stop." Perhaps, with some important reservations, this is not far from the truth.

What a mockery it is for the Spaniards, who have been in the habit of massacring wounded Cubans in hospitals, to run up Red Cross flags on their principal buildings at Santiago in the hope that they may thus escape the American shells! This is another brilliant example of Spanish "honor."

SONG BIRDS.

Many of the States have excellent laws against the shooting and trapping of native songbirds. In most of these States, however, such laws are a dead letter. It has been so in Illinois, until recently, when the attention of the Audubon Society in Chicago was drawn to the wholesale destruction which was going forward there for the purpose of supplying the big millinery and bird stores. The game warden determined to seize all the native birds in one store, to see if conviction could be secured, even though the person having the birds was not caught in the act of capturing them. He did so, taking all the Illinois birds in the collection and brought them before a justice.

When the case came up nearly every live-bird dealer in Chicago was represented in court, for it was understood by them that if the people won the case thousands of native birds kept by them in stock would be likely to seizure. The justice decided in favor of the caged songsters, which were turned over to the Game Warden, to be disposed of according to law. This case is one of a series to be begun against dealers in birds and milliners who are violating the State laws.

It would be a good thing if the officials of this State would show a little more activity in the same direction. A mistaken idea prevails quite generally in regard to the damage done by birds to crops. It is a fact which has been proven over and over again that a majority of the birds do far more good in destroying insect pests than they do damage to crops.

The Senate has at last passed the Sundry Civil Bill, which contains the appropriation for San Pedro. There is now no further excuse for Mr. Alger to delay the letting of the contract. Whether he will do so remains to be seen, but one thing is certain—should he endeavor to throw further obstacles in the way of this much-needed improvement, a protest will go up from the people of this section that will make itself heard very plainly in Washington. If Mr. Alger counts on our permitting the harbor appropriation to go by default, on account of the war, he is likely to find himself very much mistaken.

One of the effects of the war has been to increase, largely, the trade between the western cities of the United States and Mexico. The war has had the effect of closing down several lines of steamers between the Atlantic ports and Mexico, and many orders for Mexican shipments have been countermanded. These orders have been largely placed in the West. It is not probable that this new trade will all be lost after the war is over. There is no reason why the leading western cities of the United States should not build up a large and profitable trade with our sister republic.

"Spaniards cannot be moved by threats," say the dons. It all depends. After the Spanish fleet had been sunk in Manila Bay, the fort guarding the city of Manila kept up a desultory fire, which gave Admiral Dewey a feeling of fatigue. He sent word to Augusti that if another shot were fired he would bombard the town. The señor may not have construed this warning as a threat; but it is of record that not another shot was fired.

The Spanish must have a very poor idea of American ingenuity, if they think that our troops can be held back by such a little thing as a few miles of barbed-wire fence. It is announced that every man in the American army carries a pair of good, strong wire cutters, which will make short work of Blanco's trochas.

The Don Quixotes have organized a "small flying squadron" to come out and meet Watson's fleet. It will be a flying squadron in dead earnest if it ever gets in sight of our cruisers and battleships. But perhaps Bro. Watson and his boys will find some way to clip its wings before it has flown very far.

Gen. Merritt proposes to take possession of the Ladrone Islands, the Pelew Islands, and the Caroline Islands, after the Philippines have been brought under subjection. If there's anything else lying around loose in that part of the world, the general will take it in, as a matter of course.

At length the Americans have had a chance to feed a few of those unfortunate reconcentrados, some of whom have been coming into the American camp. It is a case of "better late than never," but we fear that there will be few of them left to relieve.

Linaires evidently regards his barbed-wire trochas as impassable. But the Yankee boys have heard of such things before, and will show the señors a trick or two at the proper time.

The Spaniards find very cold comfort wherever the English flag waves, and, fortunately for us just now, it waves over a considerable portion of the earth.

The Spanish Cabinet Council have "decided to postpone the crisis." Don't they wish they could postpone it indefinitely!

Oh, no, it wasn't an earthquake at all. It was only the Vesuvius coughing in its sleep.

Considering the important results accomplished, our losses were comparatively light.

The outer works are ours. Now for the inner works.

POLITICS.

E. E. Danforth of the Fourth Ward is a candidate for the Republican nomination for County Treasurer.

J. M. Miller of Clearwater is a Republican candidate for the Assembly in the seventy-second District. Kenyon is the present Assemblyman from this district, but will not seek a re-nomination, having received a military appointment.

It still remains to be seen how far the Democrats will be willing to go in endorsing Populist principles in the event of fusion. The Populist State Central Committee has taken the broad stand that all candidates seeking the party's support must accept its platform. The committee defined its position in the following resolution, adopted several months ago:

"Candidates for public office are in duty bound to accept the platform of the party whose nomination they seek, and if unwilling to accept such platform they should not ask or receive the nomination of such party. Experience has demonstrated that attempted fusion by parties that do not agree in political demand can not command the support of the members of such parties."

Many Democrats are already manifesting dissatisfaction with the efforts to bring about fusion. They insist that the party's principles must not be sacrificed to the scramble for office. In this they take the same position occupied by the better element of the Populist party.

PACIFIC RAILWAY CO.

VOLUMINOUS LITIGATION OVER ITS AFFAIRS ENDS.

Final Decree Finds Stockholders Liable to the Extent of Their Several Holdings—Pulman Palace Car Company Declares an Extra Dividend.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] CHICAGO, July 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The end of the voluminous litigation over the affairs of the Pacific Railway Company came today in Judge Tuley's court, when the chancellor entered a decree in accordance with the decision of the Supreme and Appellate courts, reversing the finding of Judge Horton, and declaring the stockholders liable to the extent of their several holdings.

Since the Supreme Court decision was given last February, attorneys, representing the creditors, the receivers and the shareholders of the company, have agreed upon the amount for which each holder of stock is liable, fixing it at $68 per share; this was incorporated in the decree signed today. In the case of several shareholders who have died since the institution of the suit seven years ago, reference was made to a master in chancery for a report.

The court finds that the value of the property of the Pacific Railway Company, actually received for its entire capital stock of $2,500,000, was $2,100,000, and that the amount of the indebtedness of the Los Angeles Gable Railway Company, which the Pacific Company became liable to pay, was $1,300,000. The value of the property received thus exceeds the sum of the indebtedness by $800,000. The finding of the court declares that the present indebtedness of the Pacific Railway Company amounts to more than $1,800,000, and that the amount unpaid on the shares is less than the amount of the debts of the company.

The litigation closed by the decree entered today was the result of the organization, by Chicago capital, of the Los Angeles Cable Railway Company, which was organized by C. B. Holmes, former president of the Chicago City Railway Company. The enterprise was disastrous, and an effort was made to effect a reorganization by the incorporation of the Pacific Railway Company, a transfer of the assets of the company, and the other being made. Shareholders had paid $32 on each share of the capital stock, this forming the basis by which $68, the balance of the par value, was agreed upon as a settlement figure.

PALACE CAR DIVIDEND.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] CHICAGO, July 1.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Directors of Pullman's Palace Car Company declared a special dividend of $20 a share today, in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of $2. Both are payable August 15 to holders of record as of August 1.

Further, the directors declared themselves to be in favor of distributing the company's surplus, to the stockholders by increasing the capital from $38,000,000 to $64,000,000, $18,000,000 of new stock to be issued to holders of company's securities in ratio of one share for each two held by them. In other words, they favor a 50-per-cent stock dividend, in addition to the $20 extra already declared.

The $18,000,000 increase was not ordered by the directors. It was simply recommended to the stockholders, and the decision will not be made until the regular annual meeting is held, October 13. The amount of money to be paid out through $20 extra dividend on company's $38,000,000 capital is $7,600,000. If the stockholders act on the recommendation of the directors, as the stockholders will, and order the $18,000,000 new stock, the resolutions practically amount to a declaration of an extra dividend of $25,200,000.

EVANS ACQUITTED.

The fourth trial of Benjamin Evans for petty larceny resulted in his acquittal yesterday. The jury was out about an hour and a quarter before arriving at this agreement. Ten witnesses for the prosecution positively identified a terra cotta statue of a deer in an art store as stolen from the store of Z. L. Parmelee. Thirteen other witnesses quite as emphatically swore that Evans owned the deer long before the date of the alleged theft. Evans still has part of a six months' term for shoplifting to serve, and his trial on another petty larceny charge is pending.

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

The San José Mercury enviously remarks: "Los Angeles, like San José, needs a library building, and what Los Angeles needs she generally gets. How is it going to be here?" Just try a good, old-fashioned Los Angeles hustle, and see.

So far the only crop which appears to have suffered severely from the effects of the winter season in Southern California is the olive crop. The warm March weather and the cold snap which succeeded it had the effect of making the trees almost totally barren this year.

That San Diego garbage has been stirred up again. This time its varied odors are likely to float over a battle ground, for war has been declared between the two local scavenger companies. Each wants a monopoly of the garbage, and each has threatened to sprinkle the dumping-ground thereof with the other's gore if he presumes to unload a single barrel.

The Oakland Tribune is authority for the statement that "Joachim Miller says that there is gold representing thirty million dollars on the dumps at the Klondike, so unless he has taken the customary post's license and drawn up his imagination, treasure will soon be pouring into San Francisco. It is doubtful, though, if even that can revive the badly flattened boom, for things are so bad in that line nowadays that nearly all of the Alaskan transportation companies or on the verge of bankruptcy. The war is blamed for having caused the depression in the business, but the fact of the matter is that the discouraging stories that have been coming down from the North brought about the set-back."

RED CROSS SOCIETY.

Clergy's Assistance Asked—Frenchmen to Show Their Sympathy.

The ladies of the Los Angeles Red Cross Society, having learned that the Fourth of July Committee has issued an official invitation to the clergy of Los Angeles to observe Sunday, the third day of July, with suitable religious patriotic observances, have asked the clergy of all the churches for permission to place the Red Cross membership card in the vestibule of all their houses of worship, under the charge of some responsible person, appointed by the church authorities, and also that the clergy kindly give public notice of the same, and request such members of their congregation as may be willing to sign the membership card at $1 each as a practical expression of loyalty to the flag and love for suffering humanity.

The headquarters in the Bradbury building will be open on the Fourth and seats in the windows are now on sale for the parade, the proceeds to go into the society fund. Seats are also on sale for the performance of "As You Like It" by Mrs. Modjeska and the Burbank Theatre company next Thursday afternoon on the grounds of Judge Silent on Adams street. The society will receive 50 per cent of the gross receipts and Mrs. Modjeska will give her salary to two charities in Santa Ana.

A donation of $5 was received yesterday from N. B. Blackstone, and another of $2.50 from Mrs. C. E. Thom. Yesterday's new members were as follows: Miss Eva Winberg, Mrs. B. Smith, Mrs. C. B. Hickey, Miss Edna Bumiller, Miss Stella Bumiller, Mrs. J. S. Salyer, Miss Florence E. Marx, Mrs. L. V. Brown, Mrs. W. T. Hammond, Miss Agnes McCarthy, Mrs. D. W. Cunningham, Miss May D. Carson, Mrs. W. Garland, Miss Martha Ward.

La Légion Française de Los Angeles has decided to show its sympathy with American patriotism by turning over to the Red Cross Society the entire proceeds derived this year from the celebration of the French national holiday on July 14. The organization held a meeting at its hall on Aliso street Thursday evening, to make arrangements for the celebration, which is in commemoration of the fall of the Bastille in 1789. The French colony will bear all the expenses of the exercises and among the features of the day will be a literary program and a ball. The committee in charge is as follows: Felix Violé, president; Ferdinand Gilly, vice-president; J. B. Goytino, secretary; F. Claviers, Eugene Bernard, E. Cailland, E. Amberg, C. Faure, president of La Société Française de B. U. de Los Angeles, and F. Charbonnier, president of La Légion Française.

The ladies of the Red Cross will be asked to assist the committee in its arrangements.

DEAD IN THE PARK.

TRAGIC ENDING OF A MINING ENGINEER'S LIFE.

Body of E. X. Kirby Found in East Side Park With Evidence of Suicide by It.

HAD BEEN MISSED FOR MONTHS.

DISAPPEARED FROM SAN FRANCISCO LAST MARCH.

His Wife Arrived Here in Quest of Him, Only to Find Him Dead by His Own Hand—He Was Probably Demented.

A park employee, while following one of the paths along the banks of the lake in East Side Park yesterday morning found the dead body of a man reclining against a tree. Beside the corpse were several empty bottles, and the body had all the appearances of death caused by strychnine poisoning.

The coroner was notified, and he had the body removed to Orr & Hines' morgue. From papers in the pockets of the dead man he was identified as Edward X. Kirby, a mining engineer of Salt Lake City, late in the employ of the Elks Iron Works of San Francisco.

Telegrams addressed to Salt Lake and to the Elks Iron Works brought responses that E. X. Kirby was a well-known mining engineer; that he was a man of excellent standing, and of good character, but that his whereabouts for several months had been unknown to his friends and relatives. The Elks Iron Works telegraphed the undertakers to give the body respectful burial at their expense.

During the course of the afternoon ex-United States Marshal Gard called at the morgue in company with Mrs. Kirby, who came here in search of her husband a week ago. Mrs. Kirby did not view the corpse, but Mr. Gard identified it by a photograph as that of Mr. Kirby.

Mrs. Kirby, when seen at her lodgings at No. 312 South Hill street last night, related a pathetic story. She stated that Mr. Kirby, who was the best of husbands and fathers, disappeared mysteriously last February, and was undoubtedly demented from overwork. He was a native of Providence, R. I., and was a direct descendant of President John Quincy Adams. The family had lived for some years in Salt Lake City, he being engaged as a mining engineer in Utah, Idaho and California. He was superintendent of the Bullion-Beck mine at Eureka Tintic, Utah, a position which he resigned to take employment with the Elks Iron Works in San Francisco. After about a year and a half's service with the latter company, he resigned March 1 last. He remained in San Francisco after that date until February 26, the date of the last letter he wrote to his wife. In this letter he stated that he was about to start for home.

After that the monthly allowances which he had sent as regularly as clock-work, ceased to arrive, and he did not come. Neither did he write, nor could Mrs. Kirby learn anything of his whereabouts. Letters to San Francisco failing to bring response, she set out for that city. At the apartments which he had lately occupied she found nothing but confusion. His trunk and all his personal effects were there unpacked. He had left word at the house that he was going to the country for a few days, and had apparently not even taken a change of underclothes.

While in San Francisco, Mrs. Kirby heard it rumored that her husband had been seen at Mojave, where he was connected with some mining enterprise. As Mojave trade centers in Los Angeles and all the mining men there are known in this city, Mrs. Kirby wrote to the Elks Iron Works, and Gard's detective agency to try to locate her husband. One of Mr. Gard's men saw him about three weeks ago at the office of the American Mining Company in the Stinson Block. Sight of him was lost immediately, but the wife was notified. She came to Los Angeles, where her youngest child, a boy aged 6, Thursday, a week ago, and took lodgings at No. 312 South Hill street. Most difficult to find, the missing man has been made since then, but he could not be found.

Naturally the finding of his dead body in East Side Park yesterday has been a crushing blow to the heartbroken wife. She is of the opinion that he was demented. A mill that he built for Capt. Slater at Silver City, Idaho, she says did not prove a success, and this fact greatly worried him. His resignation of his position at the Bullion-Beck mine in Utah to go to work for the Elks Iron Works, she says, was a mistake, and she thinks brooding over these things unsettled his mind.

He was a large, handsome man, 40 years of age. His family consisted of his wife and three children, a boy aged 12, a girl of 9 and a boy 6 years old, bright, healthy children. Letters to the wife and children shown by Mrs. Kirby would indicate that his domestic relations were most congenial.

In a pocket found in the dead man's pocket was a memorandum of a will made in favor of his wife in January last. His estate is described as consisting principally of several life insurance policies.

A letter in his pocket indicated that he had been staying recently at the Burlington House at Second and Spruce streets, this city, under the name of James C. Forester. Inquiry at the Burlington House developed the information that the man first registered there March 29. He remained until May, when he went away, but returned June 9, when he registered as before. He was quiet and reserved, and no one about the house learned anything about his business or affairs. It was noticed, however, that he appeared to be a man of more than ordinary culture and education. On first coming he patronized the better class of restaurants, but by and by began eating at cheap places, which was taken as an indication that his funds were running low. Several weeks ago he exhibited a magnificent gold watch, which he said he desired to pawn. He did pawn it for $34. The clerk noticed that the name E. X. Kirby was engraved in the watch. It was then also remarked that his laundry was marked with the same initials. Later the chambermaid noticed that he was carrying bottles of whisky to his room, but it was never observed that he was drunk.

Mrs. Kirby says her husband had a very dear friend named Forster, which probably accounts for his taking that name.

An inquest will be held at Orr & Hines' at 10 o'clock this morning.

The miniature ship made by him shows his craftiness. The ship's chaplain, Rev. John W. Chidwick, gives testimony in an accompanying letter of his good qualities esteemed by all his associates.

DEAD OR HURT.

Members of Stone Cutters' Union Suspected of Fatal Play.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] CHICAGO, July 1.—John J. Finnigan, president of the American Federation of Steam Engineers, died at the County hospital as a result of a fractured skull, supposed to have been inflicted by some members of the Stone Cutters' union, who were at the time on strike at the third floor of No. 183 Washington street, and it is thought he had been hipped down stairs from the floor above.

John A. Weber, a member of Finnigan's association, was assaulted by the same men, and is at home with a broken leg. For several months the Stone Cutters' Union has had a grievance against the engineers, who are employed in stone yards. A committee from each union was to have met at No. 183 Washington street to settle the difficulty.

When Finnigan and Weber appeared at the meeting place they were tackled by a number of men. The men, it is said, belonged to the Stone Cutters' Union. After the assault they disappeared.

SIGNS OF POISONING. The Carolina Suld to Have Been Given Arsenic.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.] LONDON, July 1.—[By Atlantic Cable.] A special dispatch from Bucharest, capital of Romania, referring to the report from Vienna on June 25 that Count and Countess Zuesch, said to have been respectively chamberlain to the czar and lady-in-waiting to the czarina, had been arrested on a charge of attempting to poison their majesties, says: "The czarina showed signs of slow poisoning from arsenic, which had been administered daily to her in cups of coffee by the lady-in-waiting, 'The Carolina.' The dispatch says, 'It is very unpopular, and is frequently dubbed 'The German.'"

PERSONALS.

Miss Mary Foy and Miss Edna Foy will leave this morning for Washington, D. C., the former as a delegate to the National Educational Association.

Lewis Elinger has returned from San Jacinto.

A Mysterious Assault. A personal assault that is shrouded in mystery was made upon Charles H. Oliver, an orange packer from Covina, at Third and Spring streets last night, about 11:30 o'clock. As he passed the new Stimson Block, a man sprang out of the darkness and struck him a blow on the left side of the face, felling him to the ground. The victim screamed, and the assailant ran off, and though pursued for several blocks by a number of persons, he was not caught. Oliver cannot account for his experience, and he says he has no known enemy. It is barely possible that the affair was an attempted hold-up, for Oliver was drunk, though facts lessening the value of this theory are Oliver's humble attire, and the prominence of the place of the occurrence.

DEAD OR HURT.

Members of Stone Cutters' Union Suspected of Foul Play.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, July 1.—John J. Finnigan, president of the American Federation of Steam Engineers, died at the County Hospital as a result of a fractured skull, supposed to have been inflicted by some members of the Stone Cutters' Union. He was found unconscious on the third floor of No. 183 Washington street, and it is thought he had been hurled down stairs from the floor above.

John A. Weber, a member of Finnigan's association, was assaulted by the same men, and is at home with a broken leg. For several months the Stone Cutters' Union has had a grievance against the engineers, who are employed in stone yards. A committee from each union was to have met at No. 183 Washington street to settle the difficulty.

When Finnigan and Weber appeared at the meeting place they were attacked by a number of men. The men, it is said, belonged to the Stone Cutters' Union. After the assault they disappeared.
